THE WASHINGTON CRITIC,

RICHARD H. SYLVESTER, - - Editor. WASHINGTON, D. C., NOV. 10, 1885

Washington, D. C.

Our Democratic friends in Virginia lay great stress upon their claim that a political revolution like that which has just taken place in that State was absolutely necessary to the peace and prosperity of the Old Dominion and the proper development of her vast natural resources.

THE CRITIC has never been of those who believed that General Mahone, a born Southerner, a gallant Confederate soldier and a citizen of extraordinary business abilities, was or could be an enemy to the welfare of the people with whom his fortunes were early cast and his whole life had been spent. But there was that in his political methods which was no doubt distasteful even to many citizens of Virginia not in sympathy with the Democratic party. They believed that however worthy a man he might be in private life and however patriotic in his motives, the material advancement of the State and the growth of its best interests were prejudiced and retarded by the supremacy of a party, which, in spite of its able leadership, was not in all respects suited to the executive and legislative control of a great Commonwealth.

This belief was the underlying principle of the late contest, and has been triumphantly asserted with the consequence of transferring the State Government to entirely new hands and terminating the public service of General Mahone in the United States Sen-

Nothing now remains but for the Democrats of Virginia to vindicate their claim to the proprietorship of the State and make good their pledges. It is expected of them that they will pursue such a policy as to attract more capital from abroad, to place the credit of the Commonwealth upon a substantial basis, to eliminate the taint of repudiation from her skirts, to cultivate greater peace and contentment among the colored people, and in the meantime to divert the public mind, as much as possible, from the distracting perplexities of partisan politics. This done, and who can measure the glorious destiny of Virginia? It is a matter which the Democratic party has in its own hands, and the country will expect well of its

AN AUSTRALIAN WELCOME. Melbourne is just now enjoying a visit from the United States man-ofwar Enterprise, and the ship's officers seem to be having a very large treat at the hands of the Australians. Captain Barker in his report to the Secretary of the Navy says that the people threaten to kill them with kindness. They are daily inundated with Invitations for excursions, parties, dinners, lunches, theatre entertainments, and the like. Each officer has been given a free pass over all the railroads on the continent of the Antipodes, and as Captain Barker feelingly remarks "When it is remembered that there are nearly 2,000 miles of railway and that all are under the control of the government, and that our passes are good for every mile of completed road and for every day of our sojourn here, the value of this mark of attention can be faintly appreciated." The Australians are certainly doing us proud, and THE CHITIC extends to its far-off cousins the assurances of its most distinguished consideration. At the same time we may congratulate ourselves upon the knowledge of the fact that there is no country in the world that has a set of naval gentlemen who know better how to appreciate and make known their appreciation of such hospitality as the Enterprise's officers are receiving than we have. The navy is not the largest or the best in the world, but it can boast of officers and gentlemen in the service who have no superiors anywhere.

TIME TO CALL A HALT. The ruling of Justice MacArthur in the District Court yesterday in the case of a private club, which had been raided and its proprietor and managers arrested because its members met there to play poker and other social games of cards, was a righteous and commonsense decision.

Sense decision.

The Court said that he thought but little of the certificate of incorporation, but that, apart from it, there seemed to be a club which met for social purposes and played cards, and that no one was admitted to the place of meeting or permitted to play but the members of the club, and that it was not a public gaming place within the meaning of the art. The Court also referred to places well known where clubs have restaurants and means of refreshment. &c. and where the members meet for social purposes, and said that men of the class of the members of the club in the case on trial were not able to maintain large and expensive establishments, and again affirmed the previous ruling of the court, that a gaming place of the kind prohibited by the act was one which was open to the public, and not one restricted to certain individuals forming a social organization. The jury were instructed to return a verdict of not guilty under the law, which they did.

It was high time that a judicial an-

It was high time that a judicial an nouncement should be made against the tyrannical assumption of authority of some of the detective force of the city who have prowled about the private apartments of citizens with a view of spying into the conduct of persons assembled, and when, through intimidation or force they have gained access to such private rooms and found the occupants engaged in the pastime of playing poker-the universal American game-have raided upon and arrested

The welfare of the people and pube morals require no such system of explenage as has too often been resorted to by some of the riff-raff detec

THE relations which existed between Ferdinand Ward, W. S. Warner and the Marine Bank are to be ascertained if possible through the help of the grand jury of the United States court. District Attorney Dorshelmer wants make a thorough job of the whole matter, and there is doubtless much uneasiness among those who, as eccomplices or accessories in the conspi racy have thus far escaped even suspicion. The New York Star, which may be considered as speaking for Mr. Dorshelmer in the premises, thus force casts his programme: "The relation of the firm of Grant & Ward, and o every individual member of that firm with the Marine Bank will be investigated. The relations of others associated with the firm and with the bank will also be discovered. If, as we expeet, the facts presented to the grand jury warrant indictments for violation of the national banking laws, every detail of the great swindling scheme will be laid bare, and facts will be developed that will give other courts grounds for Alas! the poor Mugwump whose ighly cultured mind sees himself in he clouds and hears himself in the wind. Lieutenant-Governor-elect Jones of Binghamton, N. Y., who is popu larly supposed to pay that freight, made a speech the other night in which he diagnosed the Mugwump. He said that the poor Mugwumps came to the Democratic party last year not for any love they bore it, but to gratify their own feelings of revenge. No sooner had the candidate for whom they had voted been inaugurated than the Mugwumps came forward and assumed not only to dictate the policy of the Administration, but to take hold of the est offices under the Government. Disappointed in their impudent aspirations they turned up in opposition to the Democrats. The latter, said General Jones, were willing that such an alliance should terminate, and the election had forcibly demonstrated that the Mugwump could be easily dispensed with. We do not believe that General Jones will pay any Mugwump freight.

THE Associated Press sends out from Washington a statement that the United States will have to pay many millions of dollars for the burning of Aspinwall some months ago. The argument is that the United States Government guaranteed to keep the transit open on the Isthmus of Panama between ocean and ocean, and therefore it must pay for the destruction of Aspinwall by fire This argument seems to be a little bit top heavy. We certainly guaranteed to keep, the transit open, and there is a pretty wide-spread impression that we did. We never, however, said anything about preventing or being re sponsible for incendiarism on the Isthnus. The United States authorities are under no obligation to organize themselves into an international fire insurance company.

THE report of Chief Engineer Cronin of the District Fire Department is a locument of valuable interest not only for the information it contains, but for the practical suggestions it makes The Department, for the size of it, is one of the most efficient in the country. It is well-officered, well-manned and well-equipped, but to cover the area required of it and to keep pace with the rapid increase of buildings the force should be considerably enlarged. This is a matter to which the attention of Congress should be early and urgently invoked.

THE appointment of General Dor Carles Buell to the Louisville Pension Agency is one of which no Democrat has the right to complain. It is good deal more. It is a just recogni tion of General Buell's honorable services as a soldier in the cause of the Union, which, in certain influential quarters were long and systematically sought to be undervalued.

THE New England Cremation Soci ety, which has just been chartered vith a capital stock of $25,000 in 2,500 shares, is to be located in Boston. Dr John Storer is president and Mr. Nathan Appleton vice-president. Truly the world moves. It is not so very many generations ago, if tradition be true, that Massachusetts thought only witches good enough to be burned.

KING THEEBAW has evidently no heeded the injunction of his best wife that he wait until her child is born before proceeding to get licked by the English. His reply to the British ultimatum is very hostile, and England's expeditionary force has been ordered cross the Burmah frontier without

THERE is not much hilarity in the Thanksgiving Proclamation of Governor Hondly of Ohio; but under the circumstances the Governor could not be expected to have a very large stock of that article on hand.
